PLAINTIFF, CAROLYN M. ANDRIANO'S, RESPONSE TO THIRD PARTY WITNESS, IGOR ZINOVIEV'S, MOTION FOR PROTECTIVE ORDER AND INCORPORATED
MEMORANDUM OF LAW

Plaintiff, Carolyn M. Andriano, by and through her undersigned counsel, hereby files her Response Third Party Witness, Igor Zinoviev's, Motion For Protective Order and Incorporated Memorandum of Law (D.E. 402), and in support thereof states as follows:

1. Third party witness, Igor Zinoviev, seeks to have this Court enter an order preventing his deposition from going forward at all, or, in the alternative, limiting the scope of permissible questioning during same. Mr. Zinoviev's deposition is presently scheduled to be taken on December 18, 2009.

2. Mr. Zinoviev has been employed by Defendant, Jeffrey Epstein, as his "driver, bodyguard, and trainer" since November of 2005. See Affidavit of Igor Zinoviev

(D.E. 402) dated November 9, 2009. Mr. Zinoviev argues that his deposition should not go forward as scheduled because Defendant Epstein has never discussed nor attempted to discuss with him “any facts or information related to any legal matters in which he [Jeffrey Epstein] is involved.” Id. From Mr. Zinoviev’s vague assertion springs the bold yet erroneous argument that “Mr. Zinoviev cannot possibly have any knowledge or information that is presently germane to this action.”

3. It should initially be noted that a “complete prohibition of a deposition is an extraordinary measure which should be resorted to only in rare occasions.” Jennings v. Family Management, 201 F.R.D. 272 (D.D.C. 2001); See also, Salter v. Upjohn Co., 593 F.2d 649, 651 (5th Circ. 1979)(It is very unusual for trial court to prohibit the taking of a deposition altogether, and absent extraordinary circumstances, such order would likely be in error.); Inv. Properties Intern., Ltd. v. IOS, Ltd., 459 F.2d. 705, 708 (2d Circ. 1972)(“an order to vacate a notice of taking deposition is generally regarded as both unusual and unfavorable . . . “). Neither Mr. Zinoviev’s conclusory affidavit nor his Motion provide anything even approaching the “extraordinary circumstances” necessary to justify the entry of order precluding his deposition from going forward at all.

4. Additionally, Mr. Zinoviev’s vague assertion that he and Defendant Epstein have never discussed any facts or information related to any legal matters that Mr. Epstein is involved in does not give rise to requisite “extraordinary circumstances” either. Detweiler Bros, Inc. v John Graham and Company, 412 F.Supp. 416 (E.D. Wash, 1976)(Plaintiff could not properly seek to prohibit defendant from deposing plaintiff’s employee via a protective order on grounds that employee had no knowledge of matters at issue.) See also, 8 Fed. Prac. & Proc. Civ. §2037, Wright and Miller(“A witness ordinarily cannot escape examination by denying knowledge of any relevant facts, since the party seeking to take the deposition is entitled to test the witness's lack of knowledge.")

5. The undersigned, as well as counsel for all of the other victims of Jeffrey Epstein, are entitled to question and challenge Mr. Zinoviev on his purported lack of knowledge. Mr. Zinoviev and plaintiffs' counsel very well might have a difference of opinion on what constitutes "facts and information related to any legal matters" in which Defendant Epstein is involved. The victims of Jeffrey Epstein ought not to be forced to accept Mr. Zinoviev's opinion as to what constitutes "facts and information related to any legal matters" involving Jeffrey Epstein. Instead, plaintiffs should be able to explore these relevant matters directly with Mr. Zinoviev, rather than being forced to rely on his twenty seven (27) word claim of lacking any knowledge.

6. Additionally, Mr. Zinoviev worked for Defendant Epstein during portions of the Palm Beach Police Department's months' long investigation which spanned from March 15, 2005 through February 2006 into the illegal sexual contact committed by Defendant Epstein against these minor plaintiffs. Accordingly, Mr. Zinoviev certainly might have direct knowledge about what was going on in and around the Epstein residence during the time period in which he was employed by Defendant Epstein as his "driver, bodyguard, and trainer" while his employer was being investigated by law enforcement. Given the Defendant's voracious invocation of his Fifth Amendment privilege, the plaintiffs have consistently been denied the opportunity to seek any relevant information directly from Defendant Epstein himself. Rather, plaintiffs have been forced to build their cases against Mr. Epstein by other discovery methods, including deposing his employees who may have relevant information.

7. Third party witness Igor Zinoviev has failed to meet his very high burden of establishing “extraordinary circumstances.” Mr. Zinoviev has failed to demonstrate the “good cause” required by Rule 26(c) to protect a person from “annoyance, embarrassment, oppression, or undue burden or expense” to overcome the liberal scope of permissible discovery. The above proposed lines of inquiry of Mr. Zinoviev are certainly reasonably calculated to lead to the discovery of admissible evidence. Accordingly, to the extent that it seeks to preclude his deposition from going forward at all, Mr. Zinoviev’s Motion should be denied

8. Next, Mr. Zinoviev also seeks to prevent questions being posed to him wherein he is first asked to “assume certain facts about which he has no knowledge,” and then be asked about his “opinions about certain facts.” First, it remains to be seen exactly what facts about which Mr. Zinoviev has no knowledge. Second, Mr. Zinoviev’s opinions and beliefs about the factual matters surrounding plaintiffs’ claims are relevant to exploring any potential bias and prejudice in favor of his employer and against Defendant Epstein’s victims. For example, if Mr. Zinoviev believes that these plaintiffs are simply inventing their claims against his employer that they were sexually victimized by Defendant Epstein while they were minor children, it very well might impact his impartiality as a witness. Third, the undersigned has no present intention of engaging in this line of questioning unless the proverbial “door” has been opened by Mr. Zinoviev first. Lastly, counsel for Mr. Zinoviev is certainly free to invoke the privileges afforded to him by the applicable procedural rules should he feel that his client is being asked inappropriate questions during the deposition.

9. In conclusion and for the reasons cited above, Mr. Zinoviev's Motion For Protective Order should be denied in its entirety.

WHEREFORE, Plaintiff, Carolyn Margaret Andriano, respectfully requests that this Court deny Third Party Igor Zinoviev's Motion For Protective Order.

Respectfully submitted,

/s/Jack P. Hill
